This series is a revolution in the cookware and designed by Italian designer. It overthrew the traditional shape of the cookware and with section design instead of round or square design, which use the silicone glass lid so that pot and lid both cleverly use own cut surface to stand in a vertical way. Because of the standable design for both of the body and the lid it allows us to place the pot and pans side by side without overlapping to scratching the coating.

GEMI series is our latest series in 2019. GEMI-S series is based on GEMI design bodys with silicone spare parts. All spare parts has silicone part including knob, handle and side handles. The silicone combined with bakelite could keep the handle and knobs stay cool during the cooking and also by changing the color of silicone parts we can make pot and pans colorful. Whatever to make the whole set in one color or make different color for different item in one set. Now let us know which is your favorite color. Let us make it happen

GEMI series is our latest series in 2019. GEMI-M series is based on GEMI design bodys with metal insertion spare parts. All spare parts has metal insertion including knob, handle and side handles. The metal insertion with bakelite spare parts could keep the handle and knobs stay cool during the cooking and the metal insertion spare parts makes the series more elegant and expensive

GEMI series is our latest series in 2019. GEMI-D series is based on GEMI design bodys with detachable spare parts. The long handle and the side handles are both detachable so you can use it normally when you cook on stoves and also it makes the both of pot and pans could be use in oven. Another advantage is that space saving for the storage

RETON series idea is from ( Return back to the original natural ). As we know the casting iron cookware is one of the oldest cookware kind in the world. It is natural, even heating and less smoke during cooking. But the shortcoming is that the casting iron is very heavy and the cost is very high.

Also it is very easy to get rust. Our RETON series design is from casting iron cookware. Because of the die casting aluminum we can keep the advantage of the casting iron cookware which is even heating and less smoke besides we make it lighter for using and no rust at all.

Very easy to clean and frying because of the nonstick coating. The last the cost is much less then casting iron.

RETON series using wooden spare parts, aluminum alloy and no bakelite because the bakelite is very difficult to be degraded in short time in the environment. Dur to this reason we hope our customers could choose our RETON series with wooden spare parts for the environment protection.

Always we need handles on the pan for holding it during the cooking on the fire or other stoves, but the problem we need something to cook in the oven with high temperature. The handle normally could not able to bear such high temperature for long time and some times the oven space is not big enough to put the pans inside with the handle. So the detachable handle is a ideal solution. Could be used as a normal handles during the cooking on the stoves and it could say goodbye to the pan when we need the pan to be stay in the oven. And also you can keep it in a smaller space if you can detach the handle from the pans

The grill pan with foldable handle.
